

Reflect and connect with peers

Congratulations on completing the Ask Questions to Make Data-Driven Decisions course!

You learned how to ask effective questions to guide data analysis, make decisions, and present findings, skills that will be valuable in any role involving data analysis.

Take your learning to the next level by engaging with others who are enrolled in this certificate program. Learning is more rewarding when you're part of a supportive community. Here's how you can connect with fellow learners in the Google Data Analytics Certificate:

Join the Google Data Analytics Community

- Discuss course content: Get answers to your questions, share insights, and dive deeper into the material with peers.
- Expand your network: Connect with fellow learners from around the globe, build relationships, and grow your professional circle.
- Unlock career opportunities: Explore career paths, share job leads, and gain advice from others in the field.

Ready to dive in? Access your Community

The community is here to support you every step of the way. Participation in the community and study group is optional and offered at no cost to you.